

Parallel Lines cut by Transversals

When parallel lines are cut by another line, called a transversal, special angle relationships are formed.

Congruency between intersections formed by a transversal is only maintained when the lines are parallel.

Find and label all angle measures:

